

Title IX

The University of Tampa is committed to providing a work and educational environment that is free from unlawful harassment and discrimination. The University maintains a strict policy prohibiting sexual misconduct, relationship violence, and any kind of harassment or discrimination on the basis of sex, race, color, religion, national origin, disability, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, age, military or veteran status, marital status, genetic information or any other protected characteristic.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 is a law that protects individuals from discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs and activities at institutions who receive federal financial assistance. This includes participation in internships, while a student, that are arranged or initiated by the University.

UT strongly encourages reporting of sexual misconduct and will take prompt, effective steps to address this serious matter and provide you with resources for support. If you believe you or someone you know has experienced an act listed above there are several options for reporting.

File a Public Report. Complete an incident report on the Office of Student Conduct website by utilizing the Public Report Form.
